23) Briefly explain the purpose of account numbers as used in a Chart of Accounts. List three advantages of using account numbers.

Answer: Account numbers serve the purpose of uniquely identifying specific accounts. Each account is assigned a unique number for the Chart of Accounts. Advantages of using account numbers for a Chart of Accounts include:

1. Each account can be uniquely identified, avoiding duplicate, repetitive accounts that have slightly differently spellings.
2. When entering transactions, accounts numbers can be used to save time.
3. Account numbers can be used as a coding system so the account number also identifies the type of account.
